PULASKI, TENN FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT'R. 28, 1866.

An Adventurous Woman. The St Louis Republican relates the following sketch of the adventures of a young and beautiful woman during the war. I will be remembered that the subject of this sketch honored our town with a visit some three months since: Among the many thrilling events of the late war none can exceed the adventures of Mrs. Loretta De Caulp. Mrs. De Caulp, whose maiden name was Roach, was born in the West Indies, in 1838, and is now about twenty-eight years of age. At an early period her parents moved to the United States and settled in the Parish of St. James, Louisiana.

The current of her life ran smoothly on, until the outbreak of the war for Southern independence, when, fired by enthusiasm in, as she thought, the cause of liberty, she donned the male attire and was among the first to rush to arms. Raising a company of cavalry and equipping it at her own expense, she proceeded to Virginia, and there served for eight months on the peninsula, under the command of the celebrated Col. Dreux, before her sex was discovered .-When this occurred she was at once mustered out and ordered home. Instead of obeying the order she proceeded to Columbus, Ky., and was serving with Gen. Polk at the evacuation of that place.

She then proceded to Island No. 10, but not being satisfied with the manner in which affairs were conducted there, she left and went to Fort Pillow, where she was elected First Lieutenant in Captain Phillips' company of Independent Tennessee Cavalry. With her company she proceeded to Corinth, and reported to Gen. Albert Sidney

At the battle of Shiloh, Capt. Phillips fell mortally wounded, and the command then devolved upon her. While gallanltly leading her company in a charge, she was twice wounded, and carried from the field.

After the retreat to Corinth, she was taken to New Orleans for surgical treat ment, and when the city fell into the Federal hands, she was among those taken prisoner. After a confinement of several months, she was paroled and soon after ex-

Proceeding at once to Richmond, the disguised female soldier was commissioned First Lieutenant in the Adjutant General's Department, and ordered to report to Gen Marcus J. Wright, commanding the District

Upon reporting at Atlanta, she was assigned to duty with the Provost Marshal, as chief of detectives and military conductor. After serving for several months in this capacity, she met Major De Caulp, of the Third Arkansas Cavalry, to whom she was engaged to be married previous to the war. The ceremony was then performed at Atlanta, and from the dashing Lieutenant Roach, she was transformed to the sober Mrs. Major. De Caulp.

From the time of her marriage Mrs. De Caulp's services ceased as an officer in the field, and she was engaged in secret service-sometimes in the Confederacy, again in England, and then in Canada.

In 1864, she spent several months traveling in the United States, and even went as far as the Sieux country, Minnesota. Her husband, who was taken prisoner in the fall of 1853, while serving with his regiment in Georgia, was carried to New York. After a long and arduous siege she at length succeeded in getting him paroled in January, 1865, but he only lived eight days after his release from prison.

Subsequent to the death of her husband (in January, 1865), Mrs. De Caulp proceeded to Columbus, Ohio, to watch over the interests of the Confederate prisoners confined in Camp Chase.

After the final collapse of the Confederacy, Mrs. De Caulp remained in the North until last January, when she returned to her home in Louisians; but, remaining there only a few days, proceeded to Memphis, and purchased a stock of goods which were shipped on the ill-fated steamer Miami, which was blown up on the Arkansae river in February. She was one of the two ladies who were saved, but with the sacrifice of all her baggage and goods. By an unfortunate oversight on the part of merchants, her goods were not insured, and consequently she lost her all.

Mrs. De Caulp is now in this city, and sojourning at the Southern Hotel. Many who served in the Confederate army will remember the dashing Liutenant. Roach (and at one time Lieut, Buford), of whom so much was said in Mobile and Selma, in 1863. Our space will not permit a full recital of her adventures.

A man stopping his paper, wrote to the editor: "I think fokes oftent to take papurs my daddy diddent and ever bodey says he was the most intelligentest man in the country en hed the smartest familie of bois that ever diged tature,"

THAT virtue which requires to be ever guarded, is scarcely worth the sentinel.

Meeting of the Country Press. The Semi-Annual Meeting of the Tennessue Press Association will take place at the City Hotel, Nashville, on Monday the 1st day of October, at 10 o'clock A. M. It is very desirable that the entire Country Press of the State should be represented on the occasion, and the earnest request is made that a delegate from each office be in attendance. As there will be matters of common interest to the Daily and Country Press before the Association,

In the French army every recruit is supposed to know a trade on joining the army. If he has not yet learned a trade he is taught some occupation after joining his corps. Should he be ignorant of reading and writing, or knowing these, should he wish to improve his education so as to qualify himself for promotion, he goes to the regimental school for four hours every day, when he is not on guard or fatigue duty. Once his schooling over, he is put to work at some trade or handicraft, or should he not know one, he is put to learn

A fiery young man met Gen. Joe. Johnston upon the street in Baltimore, and said to him: "General, we have been overpowered, but not whipped." "Ah," inquired the General, "did you take a very active part in the war?" "No, General, I -I did not, but-I--." "But I did, and I am whipped," tartly rejoined the Size, Coloring, etc. In this Celebrated Establishment are made those beautiful pictures of Every Nyle, and of All Sizes, from Life-size to the smallest Finger-R ng-Miniature, and so ellegantly colored in Oil, that the Hair, Eyes, Complexion and Expression can be so well preserved by the Artist that the Likeness is at once dentified as (almost) "a living creature." "PEARL MINIATURES." These Portraits are Rich, Complete and Beauti-These Fortraits are Rich, Complete and Beautiful. They can be highly colored and given a delicacy of complexion not possessed by the Fairest Lady, or even the Pure Alabaster Whiteness of a Babe. In this respect only are these likenesses flattering. Of the myriads of pictures taken in the various styles of art, the "Pearl" is unquestionably the prettiest and most remarkably Life-like Portrait the world ever saw. It is Elegant.

Photographs, Vignetts, Cartes de Visite, etc. Taken in the latest, most popular and approved styles known to the art of Sin-drawing. My productions of all other kinds known to the profe will also compare favorably with any Heliographic specimens of Art in christendom. (Hence you see the folly of expenditure on railroads and at hotels—lost time and risk of life to distant cities or foreign countries).
